

Here are the key insights extracted from the provided dashboard data:

- i. Educational Qualifications: The customer base is highly educated. Graduate (45.62%) and Post Graduate (44.85%) qualifications make up over 90% of the total audience. Ph.D., School, and Uneducated segments represent minor fractions.
- ii. Gender Distribution: The audience skews noticeably male. There is a higher count of Male customers compared to Female customers.
- iii. Family Size: Larger families dominate the demographic. Families of 3 (27.57%), 5 (21.21%), and 4 (19.8%) represent the top three cohorts, collectively making up nearly 70% of the family size distribution.
- iv. Feedback: Customer sentiment is overwhelmingly positive. Positive feedback vastly outnumbers Negative feedback, indicating strong satisfaction with the product or service among the current user base.
- v. Customer Type: The business relies heavily on retention and brand loyalty. Regular customers form the largest segment, followed closely by Frequent buyers.
- vi. Acquisition: The New customer segment is exceptionally low compared to existing customer groups, highlighting a potential bottleneck in new user acquisition.